3. PURPOSE OF AGREEMENT

The author renders the DESTEC the right to make the work available to the general public for browsing, copying and printing through an open information network.

4. OBLIGATIONS OF THE AUTHOR

The author is solely answerable for the content of the work and the rights that adhere thereto. The author affirms of holding the rights to pictures and other possible supplementary content that are required for making this agreement. The author is responsible for potential third-party demands.

5. OBLIGATIONS OF THE DESTEC

The DESTEC will see that the work is appropriately registered in a library catalogue or catalogues and offers access to the publication itself.

The DESTEC will guarantee the online accessibility of the work and will provide the publication service with a note pertaining to the use of material covered by copyright. For preserving the work, the DESTEC will save the original version of the work to its archive server. If the original version has not been rendered, the DESTEC will save a copy of the edited document to the archive server for electronic publishing.

6. COMPENSATION

The DESTEC will not compensate the author for the use of the work. The two parties will not demand payment or compensation for the online use of the publication nor for making paper print-outs of the work for private use.

7. COPYRIGHT

Copyright to the work is reserved by the author. The DESTEC holds the right to change or copy the work in order to guarantee its long-term preservation. The DESTEC holds the right to distribute the work in an electronic form through its electronic publishing service for as long as this agreement is in effect.

8. ANNULING OR CANCELLING THE AGREEMENT

The DESTEC may annul the agreement immediately if the author has demonstrably given misleading or erroneous information in relation to clause 4. Annulling the agreement will not exempt the author from responsibility or from potential liability for damages.

The author may demand the cancellation of the agreement in writing, in which case the agreement will be cancelled one month after rendering the written demand. After the cancellation of the agreement the DESTEC holds no right to maintain the publication on an open information network for public access, but the DESTEC may keep an electronic archive copy of the work. The archive copies are accessible in the same manner as other electronic deposit copies at depository libraries on machines reserved for this purpose.

If the annulment of the agreement is due to breach of contract by the author, the author is liable to indemnify all expenses and direct damage caused to the DESTEC by the annulment of the agreement.

Both parties hold the right to annul the agreement if meeting its conditions becomes impossible due to force majeure. Force majeure entails such unusual and relevant events occurring after making the agreement and preventing the fulfilment of the agreement which could not be foreseen by the parties when making the agreement and which are independent of both parties and the preventive effects of which cannot be removed without additional expenses deemed inordinate or without loss of time deemed inordinate.

9. RESOLUTION OF DISPUTES

Disputes resulting from interpretation of this agreement are primarily resolved through negotiation. If a settlement cannot be reached in this manner, the dispute will be taken to the district court of Pisa for resolution.

10. COPIES OF THE AGREEMENT

This agreement has been made in two identical copies, one for each party involved.
